American Watercolor in the Age of Homer and Sargent
Philadelphia Museum of Art
Sunday March 26, 2017

This exhibition explores watercolor painting's remarkable rise in the United States in the years between 1860 and 1925. From the passion of a small group of painters in the 1860s to the flowering of modernism in the early twentieth century, this survey charts the artistic revolution that occurred during the lifetimes of Winslow Homer and John Singer Sargent, the two most influential American watercolorists. Go to PMA's website to learn more about the exhibition. Reservations must be made by February 26, 2017
